SUBJECT : Incident Involving Congressional Staff Personnel [REDACTED] STA

AT

1. [REDACTED] On 4 May 1978, at approximately 1345 hours, two staff members of the Subcommittee on International Organizations, House International Relations Committee, entered the CIA compound via the George Washington Parkway gate on official Congressional business. They complained that the guard on duty at the time [REDACTED] was abrupt and discourteous.

2. [REDACTED] The problem apparently involved the fact that the staffers were directed to park in the West Parking Lot. When they asked why they could not park in the Visitors Lot near the main entrance, as they had been accustomed to doing, they were told to park where directed and not to question the guard's instructions.

AT

3. [REDACTED] I realize that assigning parking spaces can be a problem, and that the guards at the entrance gates have to contend with many complaints from visitors dissatisfied with their space assignments. It is imperative however, that gratuitous discourtesy be avoided where Congressional staffers are concerned. Such incidents tend to make our already complex job of maintaining harmonious relations with the Legislative Branch all the more difficult. The treatment received by visitors upon entering our premises reflects upon the entire Agency.

AT

4. [REDACTED] Please place this matter into appropriate Office of Security channels so that the individual involved can be made aware of our concern and steps can be taken to ensure that this kind of unfortunate incident is not repeated.
